

METHODISTS SLAP LAFOLLETTE AND KUKLUX KLAN

DEFENSE TEST DAY ISSUE WAS ALSO INJECTED

LaFollete Slapped in His Attempts to Amend Basic Law

(Telegraph Special Service)
Terling, Ill., Oct. 2.—A proposal, made from the floor at this morning's session of the Rock River Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, that the policy of the church be in connection of the National Defense Test Day threw the schedule of the conference into confusion and instead of devoting two hours to consideration and adoption of the report of the committee on Public Policy the conference went away over the noon hour in its discussion on that report. The motion to amend the defense test day was finally referred to a special committee, to report late this afternoon, with leaders for the motion, condemnation predicting its report final adoption by the conference.

Rever League of Nations
Report of the committee as to the conference pledges the methods of the conference to a re-affirmation of faith and urged a declaration against war and a sentiment in favor of the League of Nations.

The report condemned the Ku Klux Klan, shouting naming that body, expressing the opposition of Methodists to organizations whose precepts consider "race" or religious standards.

The "ty" of law-enforcement under the eighth amendment was denounced the church was urged to see that every member exercises his franchise both at primary and general election.

The Irish is also urged to an active part in every campaign issue and elect candidate in every election.

Free Slap at "Bobcats"
Any man to curtail the independence of the United States Supreme Court is denounced.

By Constitution
Weirm our confidence in the constitution of the United States," the report is. "A perfect form of government has not yet been devised, but the third system of government provides our constitution gives ample opportunity for a just and full expression of our national life."

We urge that the independence of the supreme court be maintained and that as a whole, the record of the Supreme court from the days of John Marshall to our own day has been one of the wisest and most honorable in our history.

"We urge that any attempt to destroy independence of the Supreme court is fraught with the gravest danger to the nation. The framers of the constitution did not assume finality of the document, but made provision for the growing needs and changing conditions of our national life. However, we believe that amendments should not be made to the constitution until they have had a thorough intelligent consideration of entire nation."

The report was made by the Rev. J. L. Gard pastor of the Austin Methodist Episcopal church, chairman, and read to the conference by Rev. A. M. Pennywell of the Evanston church.

Dr. H. Holt, of Evanston presided at the meeting of the Anniversary board of the Board of Pensions and Relief Wednesday, following a devotional service presided over by Rev. L. L. Hammett, address on the work and accomplishments of the Board of Pensions and Relief was given by Dr. M. S. Marble said:

The Board of Pensions and Relief justifies its existence by its achievements. Board of Conference Claimants which is the successor was organized in 1908, with no money which it began business. Last year its administration involved assets amounting to $1,557,343.75. In 1920 the contribution to conference claims amounted to $616,000. Last year the church disbursed for this purpose $2,444.

On behalf of the whole church the conference expressed its appreciation of the administration of this board electing as its chief executive officer, Dr. Joseph B. Hingel, who served in this capacity during the history of the board. This was fifth election and was a vote of confidence worthy bestowed.

In giving for a comfortable support for the preacher and his family when he is no longer render service in effective relation, this board renders a great hindrance in his way strong men giving favorable response to God's call to the ministry.

Butes to Dead
The tender and beautiful "Our of thence session" were the words describe the memorial service Wednesday morning. It was a bute of memory for the ten members of the conference who died during the past year and the seven wives and widows of conference pastors whose lives of service were ended since the last annual conference.

Rev. J. Hasten Odgers, superintendent of the Chicago Northern district, presided and Rev. J. W. Puns-ton of the Ingleside avenue M. E. church of Chicago offered the opening prayer. The memorial address was made by Dr. E. B. Crawford of Calvary church, Chicago.

Dr. Crawford was familiar with the names and records of all who went to their reward during the last year. He recalled 191 who have died in this conference since his connection with it. Choosing as his text, "These all died in the faith," he spoke with tenderness of the character and personality of each one whose name was on the roll of departed for the year.

"If there is a manlier business than preaching, it has not been set down in list of masculine activities" was a quotation used by Dr. Crawford in commenting upon the value of the Christian ministry. Preaching is an adventure marked with the spirit of romance, he said. There is in the calling the lure of things to be done that, if left undone, would leave the world a wreck upon the shores of the universe. The preacher must preach. His calling is divine. It is to proclaim a Name that will set a land on fire, a church on fire, and an individual on fire. The preacher belongs to a majestic fraternity, for it is his business "to brother all the sons of the earth."

A touching tribute was made to the wives of ministers, who by their constant help have lifted the calling to greater heights of achievement for the cause. "If the ministers' wives had their way, what a wonderful success there would be in the work of the ministers of Rock River Conference," Dr. Crawford remarked aside to Bishop Hughes.

Names on Memorial Roll
A neatly bound booklet of "Memorials" was distributed among the members of the conference. The names of Mrs. Hannah Horton and Mrs. D. J. Holmes were added to the roll of the departed after the booklet went to press, the others, each with a memorial tribute contributed by some friend are as follows:

Rev. Jacob Randolph Allen, evangelist and retired minister, of Lawrence, Kan. Mrs. Timothy P. Frost, former Rock River conference president of the Women's Home Missionary society, of Bradford, Va.; Dr. Amos W. Tatten, who once held a charge in Dixon and was later professor of Biblical literature in Northwestern university at Evanston; Rev. P. S. Lent, Ph. D. D., for thirty-five years a member of Rock River conference, holding pastorates in and about Chicago; Rev. Daniel Thomas Kahl, of Peepert; Mrs. Grace O'Neal, English, of Oak Park; Mrs. Mary A. C. Parkhurst, of Lake Bluff; Rev. Joseph Meek Cormack, who died in Miami, Fla.; Rev. Joseph Wardle, who died in Scranton, Pa., at the age of 90 years, after serving thirty years in Rock River conference; Rev. John Jacob Rapp, of Milledgeville; Rev. William MacAfee, of Evanston; Rev. Frank Bruner, Civil War veteran, lecturer and chaplain of the Illinois state penitentiary; Rev. Charles Vildren, state agent of visitation of children; Mrs. Joseph Hitchcock of Kingston.

HEAVY PROGRAM PHYSICAL DEPT. OF LOCAL ASSN.

Greatest Activity in Department is Planned By Committee.

(BY MURPHY)
The fall and winter season for 1924-1925 of the Department of Physical Education of the Dixon Y. M. C. A. will open October 7th with a schedule of classes that is greater than ever before. The program for the year as adopted by the committee on Physical Education exceeds that of any previous year and the committee and sub-committee have outlined activities that will be history making for the department. This committee on Physical Education has control of all activities of the Physical Section and is its managing and governing board. The committee is composed of the chairmen of the various sub-committees with Dr. R. E. Worsley as chairman and also representing swimming; J. N. Wells, track athletics; J. N. Palmer, basketball; H. L. Wheeler, volleyball; Cliff Hoggard, boxing-wrestling; R. E. Sawyer, industries; Dr. K. B. Segner, examinations; and Wm. Johnson, tennis.

At their first meeting held recently, this committee outlined the program for the coming year, formulated rules and regulations governing swimming pool, gym, lockers, showers, etc. Their responsibility is the organization and administration of the physical department and the working out of the affairs of their particular sport and are responsible for the opening of the tournaments, picking the teams, arranging transportation, securing games and in general increasing the interest in their game or activity.

The beginning of the season is of course the logical time for a person to get started in a gym class, but if for any reason this is impossible the person is so arranged that one can enter at any time. Exercise is largely a matter of habit and one of the best habits one could cultivate. The benefits of exercise and recreation are too numerous and well known to be enumerated here. Their values are recognized by all intelligent people but the "rub" comes in getting started. A little will power combined with a little ambition and the thing is done and you'll be a regular member of one of these gym classes.

Several special features have been added to the program by the physical committee, including two life saving classes, 2 boxing and wrestling classes, a class for traveling men and physical examinations. The life saving classes, one for boys and one for men are the first steps in making the swimming pool a place of greater activity. The "Water Gym" as the pool is coming to be called, should be patronized as much as the regular gym, as better all around development can be obtained from regular swimming periods than from the same amount of exercise at other sports and the fun and recreation is even greater. These life saving classes will include instruction in advanced swimming.

The boxing and wrestling classes under the direction of Clifford Hoggard will be held this year on Friday evenings. Advance information on the new year is indicates a larger interest than ever before in boxing and wrestling and there will undoubtedly be a good sized class to greet the instructor at the first session which will be Oct. 10.

The committee was unanimous in deciding that physical examinations should be given to all who use the gym or pool. This is for the protection of the members as well as the organization and these examinations will be given by physicians or the physical director. All these special features and activities are open to all members without any extra charge of any kind.

The schedule for the 1924-1925 season, which appears below is available in printed form, a copy of which can be obtained at the Y or will be mailed on request.

PERSONALITIES BARRED BY C. G. IN CAMPAIGNING

Refuses to Be Drawn Into Argument with Iowa's Senator.

Dawes Special En Route to Kansas City, Davenport, Iowa, Oct. 2.—Charles G. Dawes, republican candidate for vice president in his first speech in Iowa today ignored the demand made by Senator Brookhart of this state that he be displaced from the republican national ticket.

Mr. Dawes, on entering the state of Iowa here, found Senator Brookhart's demand, made Tuesday in a letter to Republican National Chairman Butler, under discussion among all republicans, but he declared he would "not deal in personalities" and turned his attention to the LaFollette's independent movement.

Declaration that "wounded birds always flutter" was the sole statement by Mr. Dawes, that might be interpreted as referring to Senator Brookhart.

The nominee, speaking from the rear platform of his special train here, warned against the movement which he said was aimed against the federal constitution and the courts, describing it as a proposal "to throw away the compass of the ship of state."

All other issues are wrapped up in this one, he said.

Jersey Cattle Judging at Dairy Show this A. M.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 2.—Jersey cattle judging starting at 9 o'clock featured today's program at the National Dairy Exposition. The cow testers, the agriculture teachers and the Jersey Cattle Club met at the fair grounds.

Gov. J. A. C. Preus of Minnesota and Gov. R. A. Nestos were expected to visit the dairy exposition during the day.

New York state won the grand championship and senior championship awards in pure bred Guernsey cow exhibits yesterday, with Wisconsin carrying off the junior championship.

Yesterday's program at the fair was marked by addresses by former Governor F. O. Lowden of Illinois and Prof. K. L. Hatch of the University of Wisconsin, before the American Dairy Cattle Men's Conference at the fair grounds.

Davis Goes Into New York.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Baltimore, Md., Oct. 2.—Having concluded his campaign in Maryland with addresses here and at Frederick, John W. Davis, the democratic presidential nominee, will move on to New York today to launch his first offensive in that state with an address tonight at Madison Square Garden.

Mr. Davis was accorded an enthusiastic reception in both of the Maryland towns and received from Governor Ritchie and other party leaders encouraging news with regard to the political situation in this, the third of the "border" states he has visited.

Coolidge Considers the Reports on Situation

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Oct. 2.—President Coolidge had before him today reports on the general political situation as compiled by William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee, who was here after visits to the party headquarters in Chicago and New York.

The chairman's survey checked in most instances with those of other party leaders who have called on the president during the last few weeks and who have declared the campaign to be progressing satisfactorily from the party's standpoint.

Dawes Strikes Out Into Three States this Morn

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Oct. 2.—Striking out across Illinois, Iowa and Missouri, Charles G. Dawes, republican vice presidential candidate, left Chicago early today on his third campaign trip into the region directly west of the Mississippi river.

Two speeches in Iowa and two in Missouri were listed for Mr. Dawes today and then he will turn eastward to speak Friday in five Indiana cities.

Wheat $1.50 Per Bu. During Trading in Chicago this Morn

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Oct. 2.—Wheat in Chicago rose today to $1.50 a bushel from May delivery. This represented an overnight advance of more than 3 cents a bushel with all deliveries of wheat and rye here touching a new high price record for the season. Urgency of foreign demand for breadstuffs was the chief apparent cause.

Trading on a big scale was in progress in all the grain pits but over the tumult of bidding scattered cheers were heard when wheat hit the goal of $1.50. Meanwhile, rye had made a sensational leap of 50 a bushel in price and was selling $1.32 a bushel, May delivery as compared with $1.27 last night.

Today's price of $1.50 for the May delivery of wheat is the highest price reached here since 1921. On the last day of May Jan 1921, May wheat here brought $1.87 a bushel.

COMPANION DEAD MAJOR DISPROVES THEORY OF SUICIDE

Testifies None of Cart-ridges in His Gun Were Exploded.

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 2.—(By the Associated Press)—George Root, Jr., of Seattle, was prepared today to resume his testimony begun yesterday as a prosecution witness in the trial of Roland Pothier, formerly a sergeant at Camp Lewis, charged with murder as a result of the death of Major Alexander P. Cronkhite.

Root was a member of the intelligence section of the company to which Major Cronkhite, Pothier and Captain Robert Rosenbluth, charged jointly with Pothier with the killing of Major Cronkhite, belonged.

On the stand yesterday Root testified that he believed the pistol of the dead Major Cronkhite, examined immediately after his death at Camp Lewis in 1918 contained no exploded shells. This testimony is a contradiction of the defense theory that Major Cronkhite committed suicide.

Major Cronkhite was shot while on a practice march with his command. Tried to Avoid Testimony

On direct examination Root previously answered that he could not remember whether there were any exploded shells in the gun Major Cronkhite had been using in informal target practice with a tobacco can as a target. With the major at the time, according to Root, were Rosenbluth and Pothier, the company having been halted about 70 feet away, out of sight in a turn of a wooded and secluded road.

Root's testimony that Cronkhite's weapon, which he had loaned him that day, contained no exploded shells, came in response to persistent questioning as to why his memory failed him in certain particulars. Attorneys Root turned in his chair toward the jury box and said: "Well, I'll explain it this way. I want to get out of this case as quickly as I can and give as little information as possible because I am afraid my testimony might be damaging to the defendant."

Chinese Leave Council When Refused Membership

Geneva, Oct. 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Belgium, Brazil, Czechoslovakia, Spain, Sweden and Uruguay today were re-elected non-permanent members of the council of the League of Nations.

When the result of the election was announced the entire Chinese delegation left the auditorium, explaining later that they did so on orders from Peking to walk out of the council if China were not elected to a non-permanent seat. Asked whether this meant resignation from the League of Nations, the Chinese delegates replied they were not able to answer.

Gyro Club Held Meet at Dixon Inn Today

A special meeting of the Dixon Gyro club was held at noon today at the Dixon Inn at which time important business matters were discussed.

Commissioner Charles El Miller of the department of public health and safety was an invited guest at the meeting and was presented with an honorary membership in the organization.

Duffy Wins Case in Lee Co. Circuit Court

A jury in the circuit court last evening returned a verdict finding for the defendant in the suit brought by the Able Motor Co. of Chicago against John W. Duffy of this city, in which the plaintiff sought to recover $1,000.

ALLEGED ROBBERS FRANKLIN GARAGE MAY BE RETURNED

May Be Turned Over to Lee Co. Authorities During the Winter.

Emil Kunz and Tony Glovingo, suspects in the robbery of the Franklin Grove garage and the theft of a Willys-Knight touring car there several weeks ago, may be brought back to Lee county to be tried, Sheriff Risley stated this morning upon his return from Janesville, Wis., where yesterday afternoon the pair were arraigned in the municipal court. Kunz was turned over to the authorities at Monroe, Wis., where he is wanted on a charge of burglary and Glovingo was held under bonds of $1,000 which he was unable to furnish and was sent to jail. The latter's case was continued until Oct. 16.

Sheriff Risley and Deputy Sheriff Fred Richardson were present in the municipal court armed with three bench warrants for the arrest of the pair who are wanted in Lee county for the robbery of the Franklin Grove garage. They will probably be turned over to the Lee county officials during the winter.

Members of a Gang?

It was rumored that Kunz had made some statements which led the authorities of Lee, Ogle and Winnebago counties to believe that the pair are only two members of what appears to be a well organized band of thieves. Kunz is said to have denied any knowledge of the Franklin Grove robbery, but added that he had learned in a round about way that the accessories taken, valued at about $500, were disposed of to a "fence" in Rockford for $300. Glovingo likewise denies any knowledge of the Franklin Grove robbery.

The sheriffs of the three counties expect that through statements made by Kunz considerable stolen property may be located, possibly in Rockford. Two cars have already been recovered, the theft of which is said to have been traceable to the operations of Kunz' gang. A third was found wrecked along a highway near Rockford a few days ago when deputies from the office of Sheriff Ross Atkinson were looking for it.

Glovings told officers at Janesville yesterday that he feared Kunz would kill him and at his request the men were taken into the municipal court handcuffed and guarded separately. Glovings' fears are thought to be based on statements alleged to have been made by him since his arrest, in which he has placed all of the responsibility on the shoulders of Kunz.

Hatch Resigns His Post at State Pythian Home

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Decatur, Ill., Oct. 2.—The Illinois Pythian home board announced today that the resignation of Clifford Hatch, superintendent of the Orphans Home here, offered one year ago was accepted at a meeting Wednesday. A new superintendent has not been selected. Mr. Hatch has been here eleven years.

Editor's Note—Clifford Hatch, whose resignation as Superintendent of the Pythian Home is announced in the above dispatch, is a former Dixon man, and has many friends here who have watched his success in the home with pride.

Convicted Socialists Were Denied New Trial

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Dedham, Mass., Oct. 2.—The state supreme court will be asked to pass on the findings of Judge Webster Thayer in Norfolk superior court yesterday in overruling five motions seeking a new trial for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, socialists, convicted of the murder of a paymaster and his guard at South Braintree in 1920. Counsel for the convicted men indicated today that the case also would be taken to the United States Supreme Court, if necessary.

Warning to Defacers of Rural Mail Boxes

Persons who are defacing mail boxes and in some cases writing obscene matter on them, will be severely dealt with unless the practice is discontinued. On rural route No. 3 out of Dixon office there have been frequent instances of this kind, and any further complaints reaching the post office, will be cause for a government inspector to investigate.

Baby Boy is Called.

The three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Omer Woods, 312 Central place, died at their home at 6:45 o'clock Wednesday evening. Funeral services will be held at the First Baptist church at 10 o'clock Friday morning. Rev. L. D. Lamkin officiating, and with burial in Oakwood.

Dreyfuss Would Call Off Series to Find Out the Whole Truth

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Pittsburgh, Oct. 2.—Calling off of the world series would "not be too far to go to get the right results" of baseball's latest scandal, it was declared today by Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates who issued a statement declaring Jimmy O'Connell and Coach Cozy Dolan of the New York Giants, accused of offering a bribe to have a game with Philadelphia thrown last Saturday, were "only the goats."

Two of Champion N. Y. Team Involved in Latest Charge

Washington, Oct. 2.—(By the Associated Press).—Investigation of the charges of attempted bribery involving the New York Giants, National League champions, has been completed and baseball officials apparently are convinced that the expulsion of Jimmy O'Connell, young outfield substitute, and Cozy Dolan, veteran coach, has brought the case officially to a close.

TWO AUTOS AND A CANOE RECOVERED IN PLUM GARAGE

Youthful Confessor of Thefts Said to Have Changed Numbers.

Two automobile and one canoe have been recovered from the farm home of Cecil Plum, aged 17, residing near Mt. Morris through the activities of the authorities of Rockford, Oregon and Dixon. One of the cars was stolen from the streets of Dixon last month. Plum was arrested in Chicago and taken to Rockford where he is said to have made a confession. The following from the Rockford Register Gazette explains the situation:

Twenty stolen automobiles were recovered during September by Rockford's special police squad. It was announced today at police headquarters. During the month ending last night the number of cars reported stolen totaled four.

Howard Knodle's automobile stolen last month, was found in Chicago when detectives went there to get a motor car Cecil Plum, arrested a week ago and held to the grand jury in bonds of $1,000, said he had left in the Windy City. It was first thought here that the auto in Chicago was Lloyd Nelson's coupe, stolen August 23.

Nelson's coupe was found in a garage in the northern part of the city. On visiting Plum's home at Polo, police found a Ford roadster stolen from Dixon.

An old abandoned farm house on the Plum farm, near Polo, had been converted by the 17-year-old lad into a garage, where police said he sought to destroy identifying marks on automobiles.

Plum, a son of a wealthy farmer-minister, recently was presented a Ford coupe by his father.

Vigorous Campaign Seen After Teddy's Address

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Oyster Bay, N. Y., Oct. 2.—With the plaudits of last night's notification address scarcely stifled, Col. Theodore Roosevelt, republican nominee for governor was scheduled to leave for New York City this morning to plunge at once into a strenuous campaign. His activities for the day include a luncheon address before the women's Hardly-Coolidge republican club in Manhattan and a speech tonight in the Bronx.

The candidate's arraignment of the democratic party, both national and state, as insincere and his denunciation of Governor Smith's administration as extravagant in its expenditure of public moneys, caused political observers today to look forward to a campaign of unusual vigor and intensity.

Two Chinese Spies Shot to Death by Loyal Troops

Shanghai, Oct. 2.—(By the Associated Press).—Two spies, employed by the Kiangsu forces attempting to take Shanghai, were shot to death today by Chekiang troops as they fled from the burning town of Lotien, 10 miles north of here. Letters on the spies, Chekiang headquarters announced, revealed instructions to burn Shanghai.

BASEBALL IS AGAIN SHAKEN BY BRIBE CASE

Washington, Oct. 2.—(By the Associated Press).—Investigation of the charges of attempted bribery involving the New York Giants, National League champions, has been completed and baseball officials apparently are convinced that the expulsion of Jimmy O'Connell, young outfield substitute, and Cozy Dolan, veteran coach, has brought the case officially to a close.

The newest blow to baseball has landed most heavily on the Pacific Coast where Jimmy O'Connell, $75,000 "beauty" purchased by New York in 1921 occupied the same relative position in public esteem that Babe Ruth holds in the National field. He was lionized wherever he went. Before he left for New York an O'Connell day was held at San Francisco and fans presented him with a home.

New York, Oct. 2.—Jimmy O'Connell, Giant outfielder, expelled by Baseball Commissioner Landis last night after he had confessed he had offered a $500 bribe to infielder Heinie Sand, of the Philadelphia Athletics, today declared he had been made the "goat" and that other members of the New York team were the instigators of the bribery plot.

Cozy Dolan, Giant coach, who also was expelled as a result of O'Connell's confession; George Kelly, captain Frank Frisch and outfielder Ross Young all spoke to him concerning the bribery. O'Connell said, adding that they gave him to understand that the entire Giant team was "in on it."

"They were all in on it," the young outfielder said. "I am being made the goat, that's all."

O'Connell Talks Freely.
O'Connell reported with other members of the team at the Polo grounds at 10 o'clock this morning, declaring that he had not been "officially or unofficially" notified of his suspension. "I didn't know what else to do," he explained. He frankly discussed the details of the attempted bribery.

O'Connell said that the bribery plan was first broached to him in the Giant's dressing room by Dolan before last Saturday's game. Dolan, he said, asked him if he was well acquainted with Sand. O'Connell said he told him he was, saying they were both Californians and had known each other for a long time. Dolan then said, according to O'Connell:

"If you can get Sand to let down in today's game tell him there's $500 in it for him."

"I asked Dolan where the money was to come from," continued O'Connell, "and he said, 'Well, the Giants are all going to chip in and make up the purse.' I agreed and said I would see Sand before the game."

Asked if he did not consider it strange that such an offer should be made by a fellow team member, O'Connell replied:

All Giants "In On It?"
"No, I didn't. Dolan said all the other players on the team were in on it and I said to myself, 'If all the fellows are in on it, there is nothing strange about it, and it's all right for me, too.'"

O'Connell said that after Dolan made the bribery proposal to him, Ross Young entered the club house and asked if Dolan had said anything to him.

"I told him yes," the young outfielder continued, "and Young said 'you go ahead because it's all right.'"

Today's Market Report

Activity in All Grains

on Chicago Board Today

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Led by a sudden advance of 6c a bushel in the rye market, wheat and other grain went rapidly upward in price today as soon as business began. Unexpected strength in wheat quotations at Liverpool counted also as a stimulus and also did evidence that urgent demand for breadstuffs from the United States was continuing unabated. Wheat opening prices ranged from 1.43 1/2 to 1.45 1/2 higher, Dec. 1.42 1/2 to 1.44 1/2 and May 1.43 1/2 to 1.45 1/2 were quickly followed by material further gains.

Subsequently the wheat market continued to ascend, influenced by estimates that exporters had taken 2,000,000 bu. or more of wheat today for shipment to Europe and also acquired 10,000,000 bu. of rye. Wheat closed strong 3/4c to 1/2c net higher, Dec. 1.43 1/2 to 1.45 1/2 and May 1.43 1/2 to 1.45 1/2. Corn advanced with wheat. There was an active trade in all grain. After opening 1/4c to 1/2c higher, Dec. 1.11 1/4 to 1.13 1/4 and May 1.12 1/4 to 1.14 1/4 were quickly followed by material further gains.

Oats started 1/4c to 1/2c up, Dec. 55 1/2 to 56 1/2 and later showed about 2c gain, compared with yesterday's finish.

Provisions responding readily to the upward swing of grain and hogs.

No important reaction in corn prices was witnessed. The market closed strong 2 1/2c to 3 1/2c net higher, Dec. 1.13 1/2 to 1.15 1/2 and May 1.14 1/2 to 1.16 1/2.

Buoyancy in rye market was due to reports that stocks of rye in the United States are so nearly cleaned up that five days of foreign buying at the recent fast pace would leave only bare bins until replenished by new crop receipts. May delivery of rye which closed yesterday at 1.27 jumped today to 1.32.

"OLD BOOKS ARE BEST"
Old Books are best! With what delight
Does "Falthorne feet" greet our sight
On frontispiece or title-page
Of that old time, when on the stage
"Sweet Nell" set "Rowley's" heart alight!
And you, O Friend, to whom I write,
Must not deny, e'en though you might,
Through fear of modern pirates' rage,
Old Books are best.
What though the print be not so bright,
The paper, dark, the binding slight?
Our author, be he dull or sage,
Returning from that distant age,
So lives again, we say of right;
Old Books are best.
—Beverly Chew.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS
Moisten With Oil.
If paint brushes are to be unused for a while, moisten them with paraffin oil before putting away.

Sift Your Sugar.
The most successful cakes are possible only with the very finest grades of granulated sugar. If your sugar seems coarse-grained sift it through the flour-sifter four or five times.

Broad Carving Knife.
For carving roasts you need a knife that is rather broad, but for steaks and small joints a smaller and narrower blade one will be better.

Prevents Meat Scorching.
Place a piece of greased paper over the meat you are roasting in the oven and the top surface of the meat will not scorch.

Rust Proof Iron.
You can make ironwork rust proof by heating it until it is almost red hot and then brushing over with linseed oil.

Dont Rub Woollens.
Woollens should never be rubbed. They should be squeezed to force the suds through the fabrics.

Drying Silk Lingerie.
Silk lingerie is best dried by wrapping in a soft towel to absorb the moisture until ironed.

Use for Extra Milk.
When you have extra milk or cream on hand remember that cottage cheese may be made of it.

Burlesque Art.
Pleasant pictures have no place in the well-ordered house. They belong in the same category with lithographs of sporting celebrities and chorus girls.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY TO MEET FRIDAY
The Women's Auxiliary of the St. Luke's Episcopal church will hold a very important meeting in the Guild house at the church at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, which every member is urged to attend.

LADIES' OF THE G. A. R. TO MEET MONDAY
The Ladies' of the G. A. R. Circle No. 75, will meet Monday evening in the G. A. R. hall at 7:30. There is quite a bit of business to transact and the department Inspector, Mrs. Nettie Kauter, of Peoria, will be present. A good attendance is desired.

Menus for a Family

Tested by SISTER MARY.

Breakfast—Halves of grapefruit, soft boiled eggs, buttered whole wheat toast, fried green tomatoes with cream gravy, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Cream of lettuce soup, croquettes, stewed tomatoes, gingerbread, milk, tea.

Dinner—Boiled mutton, plain boiled potatoes, creamed turnips, hearts of lettuce, fruit dessert, milk, coffee, brown bread and butter.

Two tablespoons grapefruit juice slightly sweetened should be served to a four-year-old child about half an hour before he eats his breakfast. He will not eat the fried green tomatoes and sauce.

Serve one or two tablespoons of the fruit dessert without the whipped cream to a child under six.

Fried Green Tomatoes.
Wash green tomatoes and cut a slice from stem end. Cut tomatoes in slices about 3/8 inch thick. Sprinkle with salt and let stand with a weight over them for half an hour. Drain. Dip in fine cracker crumbs, egg slightly beaten and again in crumbs and fry in butter. Brown first on one side and then on the other. Stir one or two tablespoons flour into butter left in pan, slowly add one or two cups of milk, stirring constantly and serve sauce with tomatoes.

The tomatoes should be very green, not even half ripe.

Cream of Lettuce Soup.
Two heads lettuce, 1/2 cup coarse celery, 2 sprigs parsley, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 3 cups water, 2 cups milk.

Use outer leaves of lettuce and the solid stalk, saving the tender leaves for the dinner salad. Wash lettuce through several waters.

Melt 2 tablespoons butter in kettle, add lettuce and simmer 10 minutes. Add onion peeled and sliced, celery cut in dice and water and cook for 20 minutes. Add salt and cook 10 minutes longer. Rub through a puree strainer. Melt remaining butter, stir in flour and bring to the boiling point but do not let boil. Add vegetable stock and reheat. Serve with a spoonful of whipped cream topping each plate.

Combine diced peaches, apples, pears and white grapes with sugar and serve in sherbet glasses. Garnish with sweetened whipped cream. The fruit should be mixed and chilled for an hour before serving. This is an excellent quick dessert, using bits of fruit than might otherwise go begging.

The hearts of lettuce should be dressed with oil and lemon juice, seasoned with salt and pepper and a bit of sugar. Lemon juice is preferable to vinegar. Vinegar retards digestion and has no food value, while lemon juice is rich in vitamins and has a tonic effect.

American Legion Auxiliary Meeting

The American Legion Auxiliary to Dixon Post No. 12, met in regular session Wednesday afternoon at G. A. R. hall, with a very good attendance.

After the reports from the different committees were read and accepted, the president, Mrs. Stevens gave a very spirited talk on the work the Auxiliary should do for our boys in the hospitals. The ladies are planning a one-night dance and bazaar for Oct. 15th at Rosbrook hall. There will be a food sale that same day, the place to be announced later.

Mrs. Austin George who has just returned from a visit to the New England States, told the ladies of some memorials erected to the World War boys in these states; one in particular, a large memorial at Barre, Vt., the cost being fifty thousand dollars, the money being given in voluntary subscription by the people of the town of Barre.

The Auxiliary sent last month to the four hundred ex-service men at Elgin State Sanitarium, three large boxes of home-made cookies, candy and cigarettes.

MRS. WORTHINGTON SPOKE TO KNOX CO. REP. WOMEN
Mrs. Fannie M. Worthington of Sterling, who is speaking under the auspices of the republican national committee, gave the address of the day Friday at a meeting of 700 republican women of Knox county.

The meeting was held in the beautiful club house of the Galesburg club. Mrs. Worthington spoke for an hour on the national platform and candidates. Following her address, Omer M. Custer of Galesburg, republican candidate for state treasurer, gave a talk.

Mrs. Worthington went to Clinton, Iowa, Monday, and addressed a meeting of republican women held there Monday afternoon.

Illinois Girl Marries Consul
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 2.—At the American Embassy at Buenos Aires, Argentina, yesterday occurred the marriage of Miss Elsie Kirkpatrick of Clinton, Ill., instructor in the Clinton Community High school for several years, and E. Kitchell Ferrand, United States consul at Buenos Aires. Miss Kirkpatrick formerly lived in Champaign where she graduated from the University of Illinois.

Mr. Ferrand was formerly an instructor in the same university and is a nephew of Lexington Ferrand, president of Cornell University and of Prof. Max Ferrand of Yale University.

Governor of Wyoming Died Early This Morn
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 2.—Governor William B. Ross of Wyoming died in Memorial Hospital here this morning at 3:15 o'clock. Governor Ross underwent an operation for appendicitis at the hospital here last Wednesday. The operation was pronounced successful, but within the last few days his condition became serious with the development of complications.

Women Take Prominent Part in 1924 Campaign for the Presidency; Three Who Are Leaders in Republican Camp

Mrs. Grace S. Burlingham, Mrs. Miriam S. Hollowell, Mrs. E. C. Giltner.

Since the amendment to the Constitution extending suffrage to women became effective, women have taken a very active part in national politics. This presidential year they are in the fight tooth and nail on both sides, refuting the views of opponents of suffrage who prophesied apathy on the part of women, even if they were granted this privilege and duty.

In the republican national committee, women play a major role. Under the leadership of Mrs. Alvin T. Hart, of Kentucky, who is Vice Chairman, the women members of the National Committee are working hard, wisely, and well to convince the women voters of the necessity of returning Calvin Coolidge to the White House for the good of America.

Pictured above are three national committee women. Mrs. Grace S. Burlingham, at the left, is from Missouri, and is well known for her organization work in politics. She founded and largely built up the Republican Woman's Club of St. Louis, and was its first president, holding that office for two years. She has been president of the 26th Ward Republican Organization since women entered politics. In addition to that, she is manager of the Women's Coolidge Clubs of America for her state.

Not only in politics has Mrs. Burlingham made a name for herself, but she is a golfer of note. A few years ago she won the state championship for women, as well as the St. Louis City championship.

In the center is pictured Mrs. Miriam Stewart Hollowell, of Fort Madison, Iowa. Her husband, Thomas P. Hollowell is Warden of the state penitentiary at Fort Madison. During their early married life her husband was a postmaster, and ran a Republican newspaper, and it was through him that she became well grounded in state politics. When the war came, Mrs. Hollowell volunteered, and Mrs. Hollowell conducted the newspaper during his absence. During the past winter she served as associate chairman of the Coolidge Committee. She is a member of the Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. E. C. Giltner, of Portland, Oregon, shown above at the right, not only is national committee woman for her state, but has been associated with the Oregon State Committee for a number of years. During the World War she served overseas, her work in the hospitals being noted as of exceptional value.

Among persons between 20 and 30 years of age, while 76 or 25 per cent were among folks between 10 and 20. Typhoid fever is one of the easiest to prevent, being a filth disease. To have typhoid fever one must ingest germs that originated in the intestinal tract of another. These germs usually travel from one to another in water, milk and less frequently in other foods. Obviously the means of prevention lies chiefly in keeping clean and seeing to it that the food and water supply is clean, in the broadest meaning of the word.

Babies were a chief feature of the state fair this year. The professional staff of the state health department examined 1344, finding one boy and two girls who scored 100 per cent perfect. The boy was a farmer lad of three summers while the girls were both less than 12 months and came from village communities. The babies were accompanied to the fair grounds by proud parents and admiring grandparents, aunts and uncles. Those who stayed at home got the news over the radio if the little "tacker" outstripped his rivals on the score sheet.

Looking for the most perfect baby out of 1344 is no easy matter, declares Dr. Isaac D. Hawkins, state health director, who has recently tried it. The job requires 6 days of hard work and assistance of a staff composed of physicians, dentists, psychiatrists, nurses, stenographers, expert scorers and clerks. It is a lot easier to point out the shortcomings and suggest means of improving the youngsters' health than it is to find a perfect specimen because there are so few of the latter.

Cattle raisers long since learned the familiar trick of feeding milk to a best that was scheduled for prize winning contests. Milk gives a full grown bull a huster that nothing else will create. The same food—if it is clean and pure—will build up the human body and give it health and strength as nothing else will, says the state health commissioner. This seems to be a very commonplace remark but the fact that some 20,000 children in Illinois are suffering from malnutrition, much of it due to a

EPWORTH LEAGUE NOTES

EPWORTH LEAGUE NOTES
The "Outlook" was the subject of the League devotionals last Sunday evening, which were led by Miss Alice Powell. Each of the four departments of the chapter presented its ideal department, the realization of which each will strive for during the year.

Rev. Moore in speaking to the Leaguers gave the purpose of the League as the development of christian character, the departments being means by which the development may take place. Each Leaguer should place himself in the way of a department and enter into its work. The first or spiritual department has as its methods Evangelism and Bible Study, and through such means as the Morning Watch and Win-win-Chum week aids in spiritual growth. The second department, if that of Christian Cooperation and places its emphasis upon Stewardship and Mission Study. Through it is presented the world's condition and needs and means of meeting these needs. Citizenship and Community Service belong to the third department and not only refer to making citizens of people of other nationalities but to making intelligent and willing workers of those of our own community.

This meeting was a helpful one to all present. It brought clearly before the Leaguers the work of each department and made each one conscious of the spirit and object of the League. To obtain the ideals set forth each Epworth Leaguer must give his best service. There is a place for each one in the work to be done.

The District Cabinet meeting was held at Ashton Sunday, September 28. Plans were made for the Mid-Winter Institute to be held after the holidays, and for the boosting and strengthening of our Leagues.

At the cabinet meeting of the Dixon Chapter last Wednesday evening reports were made by the leaders of the departments giving the outlook for the years work.

"Having a Good Time" will be the subject to be discussed by Gordon B. Nichol at the League service this coming Sunday. A devotional meeting with such a topic should be of vital interest to everyone since amusements are really a serious part of life. All young people are invited to the League services on Sunday evening at 6:30 p. m.

An incident of interest to Leaguers and every member of the church is the report of the discovery of a new "Life of Christ" whose date has been fixed about 58 A. D. This antedates any of the known writings concerning the life of Christ. We wonder what new light this will throw on the life of Jesus and what new sayings of his it will contain.

If the increase in population during that period is considered, the fatality rate from tuberculosis now is just about half what it was in 1918. The reason for the decline in tuberculosis mortality, says the state health director, is that folks in Illinois determined to stop having the disease. Anti-tuberculosis work is nothing more or less than a response to public needs and public demands and the progress already made toward eliminating the disease shows that the folks on the fighting line know what they are about. The battle is not over but triumph seems around the corner in the offing.

Typhoid fever in another disease that kills folks in the prime of life. Out of 314 fatalities in the state last year 94, or 30 per cent, occurred a

HEALTHGRAMS
Fighting tuberculosis is a young person's job, declared Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, state health director. At any rate the older folks get little chance at that proposition since this disease gets away with most of its victims before they reach 40. Out of 4900 people who died from pulmonary tuberculosis in Illinois last year only 1868 were older than 49 and only 551 were less than 20.

Having tuberculosis is a mighty expensive proposition. The disease most frequently manifests itself in a seriously incapacitating manner about the time one is reaching the life period of greatest production and the fatal cases most frequently terminate before the average person has an opportunity to achieve much. Besides this the fellow who falls victim to tuberculosis usually becomes a burden to his fellow beings. Altogether a single tuberculosis person stacks up a tidy sum in his expense account and when this is multiplied by the 40,000 or 50,000 cases in Illinois, the state bill becomes quite an item.

Six — ago tuberculosis caused an average of 25 funerals every day in Illinois. Now it causes only

New York—A native New Yorker in his ambitious twenties has gone west to become calloused with life. Born in the world's biggest, most "hard-boiled" city, he has left New York to get a little "hard-boiled" himself.

For the first time in his life he is breaking home ties. He has started to walk to the Pacific coast. He plans to be gone for five months and he will absorb life in lumber camps, on docks, in hobo camps, gravel pits and other places where men live by physical strength.

He will shun gay lights of all cities and will live only among manual laborers, seeking a new understanding of people.

Few young men leave New York to learn life. For New York is so full of it.

There's a little eating shop under the shadow of the bright lights of Broadway that, innocent though it may appear, is as sinister a place as exists in all New York—or in the country for that matter.

I am not permitted to reveal its exact location for obvious reasons. It is the rendezvous of most of the international crooks who might happen to be in the metropolis.

And there is not an hour of the day or night—or it remains open most of the 24 hours—when the sharp eye of some government secret service man or a foreign agent is not riveted on it.

New York—Broadway is being purified. Uniformed evangelists of the law have been assigned to various public shows to see that naughty words in realistic plays and nude scenes in the living pictures of revues are deleted.

The only effect of this annual gesture it seems, is to make more popular the shows under fire.

lack of milk, suggests that the point is timely and needs a bit of publicity.

Mrs. Sweeten's Plea Has Not Been Decided Upon, Says Her Lawyer
Mount Vernon, Ill., Oct. 1.—Attorney Robert E. Smith of Benton, Ill., today announced that he had been retained as attorney for Mrs. Elsie Sweeten who has confessed she poisoned her husband in a conspiracy with Lawrence M. Hight, former clergyman of Ina, Illinois, who later administered poison to his wife, that Smith said he had but one conference with his client in the jail at Salem where she is held, and that he had no statement to make at this time as to what defense would be offered in the case of Mrs. Sweeten who is expected to be indicted jointly with Hight on two murder charges when the Jefferson county grand jury meets on Oct. 13.

Hight who is held in the Mount Vernon jail has taken no steps to retain a lawyer and has told jail officials that he plans to ask the court to appoint an attorney to represent him.

The former clergyman has written scores of letters since his imprisonment, including two to Mrs. Sweeten, in which, officials state, endearing terms were used. In these letters he has assured Mrs. Sweeten that "his love for her continues."

In letters to members of his family Hight expressed deep regret for the crime and in letters to old friends requested that they pray for him.

One of the first plays picked upon is a war story. The police objected to some of the words placed in the mouths of the soldier actors while on trench duty. It appears the officers want verbal cream puffs to flow from the harassed fighters.

Another objection of the police was to the scant attire worn by Katherine Ray, a pretty, blue-eyed girl with blonde hair in another show.

Youthful baseball outfielders have their troubles playing in New York. Right field in the impromptu park used by Rudy Janesek and his youthful companions is at the foot of a pier overlooking the Hudson. Rudy chased a fly ball and in his vain attempt to capture the pellet whammed out by the local Babe Ruth he dived off the pier into the river. The ball park is being moved today.

Paradoxical as it may sound, the ugliest and shortest block in New York can boast of more beautiful girls than any other single thoroughfare in the metropolis.

Thirty-seventh street, between Broadway and Seventh avenue is just a hop-skip and a jump in length. But on it are crowded a score of cloak and suit houses that grind out the garments worn by women of the nation.

And at luncheon time from these buildings there pours a dazzling display of femininity. It is the time when the professional beauties, the models, go out to eat soup and other drab foods not ordinarily associated with beauty.

It looks like a procession of the ugliest—only there are a hundred times more girls than in all of the revues on Broadway.

And maybe you think they do not know they're beautiful! Disabuse your mind of that. Clarence, you're all wrong.

TEACHING MORAL CODE.

Widespread advocacy is predicted for the movement newly-launched for the teaching of the recognized code of morals in the public schools. The plan has already won the support of many leaders in the ministry.

The incentive behind the movement is the barring in the public schools of the teaching of religion. Because the public schools make no discrimination against any religious faith, creed or denomination it has been found not feasible to introduce the teaching of religion in them. The result has been that the moral training of children has been almost wholly neglected in the schools.

A public statement inaugurating the movement thus explain its purpose:

"Concerning supernatural religion men differ and divide; but natural religion lives in every human being. It is evidenced in that moral guide which we call conscience, which may be crude or cultivated, but which is the essence of every system of morals because it is a part of the mind of every man.

"No sane person will deny the necessity, regardless of creed, to aid in the development of that fundamental force. An education solely in the material things of life is surely incomplete. The young mind must be impressed at the same time with fundamentals of what constitutes right and wrong."

There can be little objection from any source to regular courses in moral training. In this country there is a well-defined code of morals. When the time comes, if it does, to draft the school moral code there may arise debates on certain rules of conduct that may be submitted for embodiment in the code, but on the greater number of proposed lessons there would be universal agreement.

In certain quarters there has been for some years growing agitation for the placing of greater stress in the schools on the social relationship, the accepted rules of human conduct, the moral code and associated matters. The old and the new movements may join forces and accomplish something if they don't encounter insurmountable barriers such as eugenics and birth control.

LaFOLLETTE'S BIG FUND.

When the call was made upon organized labor to give one day's earnings to the LaFollette campaign, statisticians busied themselves with pencils and announced that the Wisconsin senator would have such a campaign fund as never before had been collected.

The fund yet is a paper one. The coin has not been collected. Disaffection in the labor ranks indicated that labor will not respond to the demand. The Federationist, the official publication of the American Federation of Labor, is setting forth a vital difference between the principles of the federation and those of a large group of LaFollette followers. The publication refers to the attacks on private ownership.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, has endorsed the republican national ticket. He does not favor the action of the Cleveland progressive convention. Frank Farrington of Illinois was expected to deliver the mine workers, and he does have a strong and certain following, but the position of Lewis in the presidency speaks of his strength with the minors.

William G. Lee, head of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, is expected to be with Lewis in a labor program in the national campaign.

These labor leaders are no more able to deliver to the republicans the labor vote than are the other leaders to deliver it to LaFollette. Their trend of action, however, indicates that the campaign contributions will not create a fund as enormous as a statisticians at first had figured.

GAMBLING.

Almost 164 million shares of stock changed hands on the New York Stock Exchange between the first of the year and Sept. 1. That's at the rate of over 240 million shares a year, and a good many observers are alarmed at the "gambling craze."

If they will consult old newspaper files, they will find that stock trading was on even a bigger scale in the years 1905 and 1906 and even as far back as 1901. Since the dollar in those years bought twice as much as now, there really was more than twice as much speculation as in 1924.

ORPHANS.

Orphans and other dependent children—125,000 of them—are in orphan asylums and kindred institutions in America.

Mothers, in particular, will pity them. Brighter is the news that the orphan asylum is scheduled to be an extinct institution before many more years. Forty-two states already have special pensions that help widowed mothers support their children at home, 127,000 kiddies getting aid this way. An additional 70,000 have been placed in "foster homes," mainly for children who have lost both parents.

CRIMINALS.

Dealing with crooks is apt to make any man cynical about human nature. An official of a big bonding company expresses his opinion that women are more honest than men because they are more susceptible to fear.

This official may have liver trouble. Fear doesn't keep people honest. They are honest by choice. Ninety-nine out of 100 would be honest even if there were not punish laws for the wayward. Criminal laws are made for a very small minority.

CLOTHES.

We do things on a bigger scale in America than any of us realize. Sol Schloss tells the clothiers' convention that the clothing industry has 1,200,000 employees and sells over 10,000 million dollars worth of garments a year. What Americans spend on clothes in two years and three months would wipe out the entire national debt.

It may be logical for candidates to pay little attention to platforms. What they need is landing stages.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 10—THE TWINS LEAVE SQUEEJICK LAND

"You cannot leave until you prove you are smarter than we are."

Pretty soon the Sand Man and the Twins came to the potato patch in Squeejick Land. The potatoes had grown to a tremendous size and their curiosity had brought them to the top of the ground which any farmer will tell you is no place for potatoes at all. Their eyes were wide awake and they blinked and winked as the travelers came near. Indeed they had seen them far away and had whispered it to the corn (which was all ears, you may be sure) and the corn had told the cabbage heads who sent word to the Squeejick King by the scarlet runner. The Squeejick King sent back word by his royal gardener for the potatoes to keep their eyes wide open and to let him know if the visitors came any nearer. "Why, hello there!" exclaimed the Sand Man to the Twins. "These are fine potatoes, my dears! And no wonder! Look what fine sand they are growing in!" The potatoes winked and blinked. "We'll have to tell the corn to tell the cabbage to tell the king to send his soldiers right away," they whispered to each other. "Something is going to happen."

The Sand Man decided that it was time to get busy. So he said something to Nancy and then he said something more to Nick. Before the watchful potatoes knew what was happening, the Sand Man and the Twins picked up some of the magic sand and threw it into the potatoes' eyes! In about two shakes they were all sound asleep. And being sound asleep they could not tell the corn to tell the cabbage to tell the scarlet runner to tell the king to send his soldiers. And so the Sand Man and the Twins scooped up the rest of the magic sand and put it into the Sand Man's sack. And they started to leave Squeejick Land for good.

But Squeejicks do not have rabbit ears for nothing, and they all came a running by the hundreds, all except the First Squeejick, who was at the market, and the Second Squeejick, who was at the barber, and the Third Squeejick, who was at the candy store.

"You cannot leave Squeejick Land until you prove that you are smarter than we are," said the Lord High Counsellor Squeejick coming along. "Tell us what to do and we'll do it," said the Sand Man.

"That's nothing. You'd never believe where we can go until we show you." "Prove it," said the Lord High Counsellor quickly. Away walked the Sand Man and the Twins.

JOHN W. DAVIS HIS LIFE STORY

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

John W. Davis, son of John James and Anna Kennedy Davis, was born in Clarksville, Va., on April 13, 1878. He was graduated from Washington and Lee University with B. A. and law degrees. His first wife, formerly Miss Julia McDonald, died in 1906. In 1910 he was elected to Congress, where he engaged in numerous fights. In 1912 he was married to Mrs. Charles List, formerly Miss Ellen Bassel of Clarksville. Appointed solicitor general in 1913, he represented the government in many anti-corruption suits. He was appointed ambassador to England in 1918 and served until relieved by Harvey Jennings. Russell & Davis he soon became famous as a corporation attorney, and was elected president of the American Bar Association in 1912.

CHAPTER X.

Just as an "accident" gave John W. Davis his start in national politics, sent him to Congress in 1910—so another twist of fate made him available for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1924.

The "twist" occurred at the 1920 Democratic National Convention in San Francisco, where Davis missed out on the presidential nomination by a single ballot.

Had he been nominated, he undoubtedly would have been "snowed under" at the following election. Almost any Democrat was bound to suffer a crushing defeat.

That being the case, his nomination at the New York convention would not have been even considered. But that extra ballot in San Francisco was never taken—and James M. Cox "took the fall."

Discussion of Davis as a Democratic possibility had started in 1919, while he was serving as ambassador to England. In March, 1920, the Democratic state committee of West Virginia cabled him to the effect that he had been proposed for the presidency.

Davis replied that he would not refuse the nomination if it were offered him, but neither would he seek it.

He cabled back:

"When a nomination for that office represents the deliberate wish of one's party, it constitutes a call to duty that no man could or should refuse."

"In all sincerity, however, let me say that I do not seek the nomination and that I cherish no higher ambition than to perform to the best of my ability the duties of my present position so long as I shall continue in it."

Davis was still in England when his name was presented to the San Francisco convention by Governor John J. Cornwall of West Virginia.

"If you want a man of character," Cornwall said, "if you want a man of ability, if you want a man of experience in public life, a man trusted by President Wilson, who is without blemish and who is great in every sense of the word, I want you to nominate the man I have named—John W. Davis, now in London, but a typical citizen of the United States."

The convention was deadlocked and the weary delegates were ready to turn to a "dark horse."

But what Robert Burns said about his best laid plans of mice and men is particularly true at political conventions. On the thirty-eighth ballot Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer withdrew from the race, and the deadlock was broken. The movement for Governor Cox of Ohio started slowly to gain impetus. Cox went over in a landslide on the forty-fourth.

There wasn't any forty-fifth.

Davis, as a future presidential possibility, was saved.

His friends started boosting him for the 1924 Democratic presidential candidacy almost as soon as the 1920 presidential race was over.

Davis, being returned to private life, took the attitude toward the new "boom" that he took prior to the San Francisco meeting. If the Democrats wanted to nominate him, all well and good. If they didn't, he would do anything about it, one way or another.

But his West Virginia friends came to New York before the convention opened and started a very thriving axis boom.

They played up their favorite as a safe and sane candidate, a man of lance and judgment one who would rarely scare no votes away by any wild ideas.

This line found much favor, and Davis boom grew. And, as it grew, it grew safer and saner all the time. Pretty soon it grew too safe and sane!

The fact that Davis was member of Wall Street firm of corporate attorneys began to get wide publicity, the fact that this firm had among its clients both Standard Oil and the use of Morgan was thoroughly advertised.

The Davis boom started waning—and the West Virginians started worrying. They began to realize that they had overplayed Davis' safety and sanity. Immediately they started planning that all they had meant imply was that he was a safe and sane Progressive.

They pointed out that as congressman he had written the labor clause of the Clayton act which exempted the Sherman Anti-Trust act from the legal right to have the labor organized; that he had ordered establishment of a Children's bureau and supported the child labor amendment; that he had fought the government's battles against the International Harvester Company and United States Steel Corporation; that he had won the government's legal fight to uphold the Adams act; that as a private attorney he had fought and won for the Window Glass Workers when the government attacked their contract with their employers; that in West Virginia he had volunteered his services to get Eugene V. Debs and "Mother" Jones out of jail.

Yet despite this barrage of Davis progressive propaganda the delegates registered doubt. They couldn't quite picture a Wall Street lawyer as a Progressive. The boom continued to wane—and the West Virginians continued to worry.

At the same time, Davis—in the vernacular—was "sitting pretty."

First, he didn't have any particularly bitter enemies. Second, the leaders liked him. They may have liked their own favorite candidates more—but they liked Davis, too. He was, in convention terms, "acceptable."

This meant that the bosses—Brennan of Illinois; Ed Moore of Ohio; Guffy and Bonniwell of Pennsylvania, and others—were ready to throw their support his way in the event of a deadlock.

Tom Taggart, Indiana boss, played a waiting game, confident that the convention would sooner or later simmer down to a fight between Davis and his man, Senator Elihu Root.

This was the situation when the convention—longest, bitterest, hardest fought, most uncertain and most colorful in party history—opened in Madison Square Garden on June 24.

Senator Pat Harrison, orator from Mississippi, made the keynote speech, an address full of overblowing of humor and satire and burning invective, he called on the convention to establish clean government as the outstanding campaign issue.

"Forty-eight years ago in St. Louis," he cried, "the hosts of Democracy met in convention to dedicate themselves to purging corruption from public service. We meet today for re-dedication to the same purpose."

That was the start. Followed denunciation of the Mellon tax plan, ridicule of the administration's foreign policy, scathing reference to the oil scandal.

Under the wizardry of Harrison's spell-binding the convention screamed, yelled, perspired, worked itself into a state of semi-madness.

The convention's excitement thermometer shot up to fever heat, and the mercury didn't subside to normal until the meeting was over and the smoke of battle cleared away.

Harrison pointed out that it was the Democratic party's duty to restore integrity in public office, rigidly enforce the law, reduce transportation charges, readjust tariff rates, bare tariff rates, bare campaign bribery, punish election frauds, relieve agriculture by restoring the purchasing power of the farmer's dollar, adopt a progressive reclamation policy and recognize America's obligations to the world.

All this was agreeable to the assembled delegates. It sounded like a good, sound program. The trouble started when they tried to pick someone to carry it out. And even before the picking began, other issues came tumbling in which made the picking just that much harder.

At all vital points, you will find that metals and construction of the good Maxwell are the same as in cars costing three to four times as much.

In proportion to its weight and power, it is actually stronger than the most expensive cars built today.

That's a big thing for us to be able to say about a car of the good Maxwell price; and it is one of the Chrysler superiorities that put Maxwell so far ahead of its own field.

Yet it is only one of the sound, fundamental superiorities which make us proud to be factors in its production. You have probably heard about Maxwell pick-up—how in a flat 8 seconds, it accelerates from 5 to 25 miles an hour.

You are also probably acquainted with the fact that the simple device of a platform spring under the front end of the motor, combined with the balancing of reciprocating parts to the fraction of an ounce, practically eliminates any sense of vibration.

Are you aware, however, that all the way through the Maxwell chassis, you find chrome nickel or other high grade alloy steel for those parts which must stand heavy stress and strain—just as in cars of highest price?

The front axle, and all the parts on which depends the control of the car, are almost unreasonably over-strong.

A bull-dog for powerful pulling—this car; but it can't pull too hard for transmission and rear axle.

The steering knuckles, and the king pins upon which they turn, are of chrome nickel steel, heat-treated.

The thoroughness of good Maxwell strength is well illustrated by the frame, which is unusually deep, and braced by six stout cross members.

Good Maxwell strength, in a word, is a match for Maxwell performance and dependability.

All these are a part of that complete and unusual goodness which scores of thousands of owners declare makes the good Maxwell the most care-free and economical motor car they have ever possessed.

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time payments. Ask about Maxwell's attractive plan.

GIANTS' COACH AND OUTFIELDER IN BRIBE PLOTS

McGraw's Costly Star of Coast Admits Offering $500 Bribe.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, Oct. 2.—As preparations were being made to receive baseball, prodigal son of the nation, back into the hearts of the people, a new scandal has been revealed whose ultimate effects cannot now be estimated.

Commissioner Landis, who announced last night that Jimmy O'Connell and "Cozy" Dolan of the Giants had been declared ineligible for attempted bribery, will continue his investigation today in an effort to discover who put the $500 into the hands of the substitute outfielder who originated the scheme now credited to Dolan, and to what extent it was practiced during the season.

Helms Sand, Philadelphia short stop, looms as the hero in baseball's latest family tragedy. The commissioner acted upon information furnished by Sand who charged that O'Connell had offered $500 to him to "throw" the game between the Giants and Phillies, on September 27, New York won the contest 5-1 and clinched the pennant.

O'Connell, called before commissioner Landis, President Heidler of the National League and John McGraw, manager of the Giants, confessed to offering the bribe and implicated "Cozy" Dolan, coach of the team.

Commander Landis, accompanied by his wife, left for Washington to take over supervision of details of the world's series which is now expected to be played in an atmosphere where drama can only be guessed.

Manager McGraw and the members of the New York team are scheduled to leave at 3:25 this afternoon for Washington.

SANDS KEEPS SILENCE
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Hazelton, Pa., Oct. 2.—Helms Sand, Philadelphia National League shortstop who reported to the baseball authorities an attempt to bribe him to throw last Saturday's game to the New York Giants, still declined today to go into the details of the transaction. He said he had wired President Heidler of the National League for advice as to whether he should remain silent or make a public statement.

Sand said the attempted bribe was made on the field before the game. Jimmy O'Connell, who made the attempt, was a long time getting down to the point, Sand said. No mention was made of how the game was to be thrown; nor did O'Connell say how the bribe was to be paid.

As soon as he turned him down, Sand added, he reported the matter to Manager Fletcher of the Phillies who informed President Heidler.

Sand said he made a full statement to Judge Landis.

Sand said he was very sorry that O'Connell made him the offer.

He did not know why he picked him out, he added, but thought it was because he and O'Connell were personal friends. Both had played in the Pacific Coast League.

Appeals from all parts of the country came to Sand today for details of the affair but he decided not to do any more talking than he could help without permission of the league authorities.

Other members of the Phillies who are here expressed surprise at the attempted bribery. Manager Fletcher is on his way to his home in Illinois.

Purdue vs. Ohio, Only Conference Game Sat.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Although only Purdue and Ohio State will meet in a conference game this week end the other eight teams will engage opponents strong enough to cause a display of the attacks and defenses on which the season's hopes will depend. The Purdue-Buckeye game will eliminate one contender for conference honors, Illinois, playing Nebraska at Lincoln in one of the most important midwestern games of the year and Michigan playing Miami at Ann Arbor will be watched particularly as the two conference squads tied for first honors last season will compete at Champaign, Ill., Oct. 18.

Brooklyn Dodgers Play
in Clinton Saturday

The Brooklyn National League, runners-up in the recent nerve-racking pennant race will play the Clinton, Ill., American Legion team at Clinton Saturday afternoon, and a number of local baseball fans may journey to that city to see the game.

The entire Brooklyn team, including "Daddy" Vance, has been assured the Clinton fans; and Clinton has strengthened its team by the addition of Gus Williams and Joe Kernan of the Sterling Legion team.

JOHNSON-NEHF TO CARRY BIG WORK OF GAMES

Burden of Pitching to Fall on Stars of Opposing Teams.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Walter Johnson and Arthur Nehf will carry on the major share of the pitching burden for the Washington Senators and the New York Giants in the coming world series. It is almost an established fact that Johnson will be used in the first game of the series in order that he may rest up in the event he is needed to stem the tide of a Giant sweep.

McGraw's first game pitching selection will be cloaked in mystery until the game but it is believed that Hugh McQuillan will draw the opening assignment, opposed to Johnson.

Both Johnson and Nehf represent the peak of pitching efficiency of their teams. Johnson, playing his 18th season as a member of the Washington club, won 23 and lost 7 games during the 1924 American League campaign, while Nehf, hurled 14 victories and 4 defeats in the National League.

The pitching burden will likely fall on the shoulders of the "Big Four" of each team, two left handers and two right handers in each quartet. Harris will rely on the slants of Johnson and Marberry, his star board fingers, and Zachary and Mogridge, both left handers. McGraw has two left handers in Nehf and Bentley and two very effective right handers in McQuillan and Barnes.

Critic agree that Harris will use Johnson in the first game and then again likely in the fourth of fifth. It is against McGraw's policy to shoot his "ace" at his opponent's "ace" and because of this it is figured that McGraw will not use Nehf on Saturday, but likely save him for a Sunday shot.

There Was a Price Upon Her Head

GLORIA FAURE
BY BURTON DAVIS
NEA Service Writer

Houston, Texas.—Gloria Faure, whose grandfather was a president of France, had two alternatives. She could leave Mexico or face a firing squad.

And quite naturally, she left Mexico.

The pretty, black-haired, dark-eyed 29-year-old senorita was classed as a dangerous radical. There was a price upon her head.

She had gone through the De la Huerta revolution against the Obregon government, as secretary to Jorge Prieto Laurens, one of De la Huerta's chief lieutenants.

It was a dangerous post for a girl. But Gloria never balked.

She had cast her lot with the insurgents while visiting friends in Vera Cruz.

With Laurens, she went to Tuxtepec, to Puerto Mexico, to Tehuacan, to Laguna del Carmona, to Campeche, to Progreso.

When the rebel leaders at last were forced to flee for their lives, she went with them. With a little party of refugees, she arrived in New Orleans last April.

In June she decided to return to her home in Mexico City. But there she found she was a marked woman. Government agents shadowed her. Friends gave her to understand she had better leave Mexico.

She came to Houston. Here she met her old chief, Laurens—not so old in years, for he is not yet 30, but worn with the cares of a lost cause. Meanwhile, though, wives were being cut in the Mexican capital. The government gave her brother permission for her return.

Now, she's not going back under that amnesty proclamation. "I've had enough excitement," she says. "I just want to go home for a while, and then—"

"Oh, I may get married and come back to the United States."

EPITAPH UPON HUSBAND AND WIFE

(Who Died and Were Buried Together)

To these, whom death again did wed,
This grave's the second marriage-bed.
For though the hand of fate could force
Twixt soul and body a divorce,
Because they both lived but one life,
Peace, good reader, do not weep!
Peace, the lovers are asleep!
They (sweet turtles) folded lie,
In the last knot love could tie.
Let them sleep, let them sleep on,
Till this stormy night be gone,
And the eternal morrow dawn;
Then the curtains will be drawn,
And they wake into a light
Whose day shall never end in night.

—Richard Crashaw.

The Dawn

The lark now leaves his watery nest,
And, climbing, shakes his dewy wings;
He takes this window for the east;
And to implore your light, he sings—
Awake, awake, the morn will never rise,
Till she can dress her beauty at your eyes.

The merchant bows unto the seaman's star,
The ploughman from the sun his season takes,
But still the lover wonders what they are
Who look for day before his mistress wakes.
Awake, awake, break through your veils of lawn,
Then draw your curtains, and begin the dawn.

—Sir William Davenant.

They keep this fellow caged up tight
Because he's rather wild;
And, when he's free, he fills with fright
Most any little child.
His skin is striped with tan and black,
And flashy are his eyes;
He looks just like a kitty-cat
That's grown way out of size

The WELL DRESSED MAN

Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

Calves Are In Clover

When the Prince of Wales crossed to the United States, he did not, like so many of his fellow-passengers, appear in knickers on shipboard, because knickers do not belong there. The place for them is upon the golf links and in the country. It was a little lesson in dress deportment taught with authority and without offence, for the spreading carelessness about when and where to wear knickers has even led them to the dance floor in suburban clubs. A dance is a formal function and to wear knickers is not only a transgression of fitness, but a violation of courtliness due to "the sex whose presence civilizes ours."

Such emphatic stress is continually laid upon the right place to wear the right thing, because this is one-and-indivisible with good form, and good form is the foundation of correct style. Lord Chesterfield, that renowned practitioner of the social graces symbolized by his name, wrote to his son that manners must adorn fashions. Where and when to wear it are just as important as what to wear.

The trend of style in wool stockings for the sports is steadily toward brighter colors and combinations like those employed in sweaters—blue, gray, Lovat (green), brown-and-white, Oxford-and-white, heather intermixtures, blue-gray, French blue, Royal blue, and canary and orange shades blended with darker tints. Heavy, medium and light weights are procurable, according to your fancy.

The two predominating effects in wool stockings are those reproduced here, that is, patterns formed by circular or diamond designs either single or double or triple. The turnover tops may be plain, or to match the leg, or different from it.

To be satisfactory in fit and wear, wool stockings must be hand-fashioned, which gives them greater elasticity, and made of fine Scotch wool, cashmere or camel's hair. You are well advised to have several pairs, as the strain on them is considerable and they lose their flexibility unless allowed an occasional rest. Knitted garters to go with the stockings are now also finished with brightly colored side tassels.

ARGUE FEDERAL COURT CANNOT TRY MURDER CASE

Attorney of Ex-Army Man Presents New Argument.

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 1.—Counsel for Roland Pontlier, former sergeant bugler of the 213th Engineers at Camp Lewis, Washington, was prepared today to offer arguments at the opening of Pontlier's trial on a charge of murder, as a result of the death of Major Alexander Cronkhite at Camp Lewis on Oct. 25, 1918, to show that the case should not be tried in the federal court here, owing to lack of jurisdiction.

The defense asserts that Camp Lewis was not government property at the time Major Cronkhite was killed and the case is one for trial by state courts. The state authorities have indicated they would not bring the case to trial if jurisdiction was passed to them.

Robert Rosenbluth, former captain of a company of the 213th Engineers, is scheduled to go to trial on October 22 on a charge of murder resulting from Major Cronkhite's death.

The selection of a jury yesterday was declared by court attaches to have been somewhat of a record when the publicity the Cronkhite case has been given in the newspapers was considered.

Defense attorneys quizzed each venireman on possible religious or racial prejudices. Some 80 witnesses from all over the United States are in Tacoma for the trial.

J. J. Golstein of New York, friend and attorney of Rosenbluth, was a spectator during the selection of the jury as was L. Rosenbluth, aged father of the former army captain. Golstein said that Rosenbluth is now practically without funds.

Arnold Davis, who was Pontlier's attorney at Providence, R. I., is in Tacoma subpoenaed as a witness.

With ROOSEVELT IN AFRICA

by W. Robert Foran © 1924 NEA Service Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Robert Foran, newspaper correspondent, accompanies the Theodore Roosevelt expedition into Africa in 1909. They arrive at Mombasa, the "gateway to British East Africa," and then make the long railroad journey to their first camp in the game-crowded Kapiti Plains.

After a wonderfully successful shooting trip in the Sotik country, the expedition camps for more hunting at a farm called Saisai-Sai. After several other trips they invade the Guaso Nyero elephant country and meet with more good sport. The Roosevelts are the guests of Lord Delamere on a farm at Njoro. Foran goes to Nairobi. Kermit Roosevelt passes through Nairobi en route to the Shimba hills near Mombasa. In quest of the rare sable antelope, Kermit tells of having stalked and killed two bongos in the bamboo forests at Njoro.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

The bongo is only found in the thick forests in certain parts of East Africa. The Wandorobo natives are adepts at stalking and killing them, but there are only two cases on record where a European had secured a specimen as the result of his own individual hunting. Capt. H. Chauncey Sugand had stalked and shot one single-handed; and the other case is one of rather doubtful authenticity.

The bongo is a kind of hybrid bush-buck, with long white tips to its horns and a striped coat. The Wandorobo hunters crawl along the narrow forest paths—a very difficult task—and then, when they see a bongo, silently shoot their quarry with bow and arrow. They also hunt them down and kill them with trained hunting dogs.

Kermit had gone out with Cole and a few Wandorobo hunters, and on his own initiative had stalked and shot the two bongos. He had thus created a world's record, for he is the only man who has stalked and personally killed two bongos.

Kermit Roosevelt, indeed, had ample cause to be proud of himself, for he had performed a feat which an older and more experienced hunter might well be elated over. Moreover, this success had placed his name high up on the list of successful big game hunters, and he had served his own country well, for he had given to one of their Museums of Natural History a series of three very rare specimens of African animal life. This bongo group would be the only complete museum group in the world.

Colonel Roosevelt arrived back in Nairobi on Dec. 11. He was simply bubbling over with pride at Kermit's astounding success after bongo.

"The task of hunting bongos was for a much younger man than myself," he exclaimed to me, "I had not even the good fortune to see a bongo!"

One thing had always impressed me during those long months of close association with them, and that was the remarkable relationship existing between father and son.

They were such real companions, and ideal comrades for such a hunting trip of such a character as this had been. It always did my heart good to see how proud the father always was of any deed of his son, although many fathers, in like circumstances, might not be entirely proof against a spirit of jealousy.

CHAPTER XXII

Across the Victoria Nyanza

WHEN the train left Nairobi, Dec. 18, there was a great ovation of cheering and waving of hats. Roosevelt was very much touched by the warmth and friendliness of that farewell from Nairobi.

We reached Kisumu early next morning and our train ran on to the pier alongside of the Clement Hill, which vessel was to convey us

THE NATIVE BAND WHICH ESCORTED ROOSEVELT INTO GONDOKORO

In Africa eroded one particular phase of the Roosevelt-Smithsonian expedition; on the morrow would commence another. We had now shaken the dust of British East Africa off our shoes, and Colonel Roosevelt's thoughts were now centered upon the Lado Enclave and the white rhinoceros, which he so much desired to get.

I knew that Cunningham would not be happy until at least one of these animals had fallen a victim to Colonel Roosevelt's rifle. The white rhinoceros, which is distinguished by a peculiar snout, somewhat resembling the hippopotamus in appearance, derives its name not from its color—for it is far from being white—but from the fact that it is practically only to be found on the White Nile.

Soon after 11 o'clock in the morning of Dec. 20 we caught our first glimpse of lovely Entebbe. In about an hour we had entered the peaceful harbor and had warped against the pier. As the gangway was lowered and made fast, the chief secretary to the government of Uganda came aboard to pay the respects of the acting governor and to take Colonel Roosevelt and Kermit to be his guests at the government house.

In his wake had come all the leading officials of Uganda. On the pier we could see a khaki-clad, red-turbaned guard-of-honor, composed of Sikh soldiers of the Sixth (Uganda) King's African Rifles.

They were waiting to pay respect to the ex-president of the United States as soon as he set foot on the shore.

CHAPTER XXIII

At Entebbe and Kampala

ENTEBBE was the most charming spot we had seen in our African travels.

There was a wealth of luxuriant vegetation, the vivid green of which blended with dark tropical plants and trees and the blue waters of the lake.

On the evening of our arrival, the acting governor gave a dinner at the government house in honor of Colonel Roosevelt. This was followed by a reception for all the leading officials and commercial residents of Entebbe in order that as many people as possible might have a chance of meeting the famous statesman.

Cunningham—Tariton had come with us to Uganda—the three naturalists and myself remained on board the "Clement Hill" that night to sleep, for we were leaving on her for Kampala at the hour of dawn.

I was now the only newspaper correspondent trailing the Roosevelt expedition, and was the sole survivor of all the small army of so-called war correspondents who had started out from New York with Roosevelt on March 23. I had now been with Theodore Roosevelt almost continuously for nine months.

After an informal reception at the home of the provincial commissioner, Jury Can't Fix Death.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—A coroner's jury today returned an open verdict at the inquest into the death of Dr. John Y. Shamel, of Gibson, Ill., who plunged to death yesterday from a third story window of the Illinois Central Hospital, where he had been a patient. The jury was unable to determine whether death was accidental or otherwise.

"BROOKLYN WAY", NEW TRAIL BEING MARKED IN COUNTY

West Brooklyn Business Men Back Project of New Highway.

West Brooklyn—The game between Sublette and the locals last Sunday was one of the fastest games played here this season and had it not been for a rally in the last two innings on the part of Sublette the game was a one, two, three, out affair. The score here ended 3-1 in favor of Sublette while the real credit for the game goes to "Beery" the star pitcher for Lee Center who had been engaged by Sublette. As for the razzing the locals received by the winners about the county championship; West Brooklyn never claimed the title only in so much as the pitcher gotten out by the Amboyites announcing themselves as entitled to that honor had lost to our team. B. J. Long made the one score secured Sunday.

Herbert and E. W. Parker were business callers here from Lee Center township on Thursday.

Herschel Hoerner suffered a broken nose on Friday while playing ball at school when he was hit while catching.

A. C. McBride was here from Paw Paw on Saturday visiting with fellow bankers.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Holdren entertained her brother and family from Chicago at their home on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Oester and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Wigum returned to Aurora Sunday after spending a few days here visiting with friends and relatives.

The many friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gehant gathered at their home on Friday evening where the pleasantly surprised Louis on the occasion of his fortieth birthday. The evening was spent in dancing and playing cards followed by a luncheon at midnight.

Linn Johnson was here from Viola on Monday and purchased a car from the Edward Henry agency.

J. H. Michel was a business caller in this city on Saturday.

L. L. Ballengee was over from Amboy on Tuesday giving his regular violin lessons.

Mrs. Leslie Corwin and Mrs. Margaret Gentry stopped off for a brief visit with friends enroute to Amboy on Saturday.

Word was received from the southern part of the state to the effect that "Sunshine" the negro jockey who rode Elliott's famous race horse at the fair had been thrown from his mount and his neck broken.

Henry J. Bernardin and mother Mrs. Julius Lernadin were in town on Saturday calling upon their many friends.

Andrew Vincent was a business caller in Dixon the fore part of the week.

The band boys brought their season of concerts to a close on last Friday evening. They will disband after next Tuesday evening at which time they will celebrate with their annual "Mulligan" until next spring.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chacon was the scene of much liveliness last Sunday when the children all gathered to surprise their father, it being the anniversary of his 75th birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Full were here Sunday from Sublette and spent the day with her parents Mr. and Mrs. George Meister.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Schulteis were down from Dixon Sunday and spent the day at the Rudolph Heiden home.

E. R. Colby was a business caller here from the vicinity of Lee on Tuesday.

A. E. Puterbach was here from Malta buying hay and timothy and clover seed. A year ago this party was shipping hay into this point but on account of the large yield he is buying here this year instead.

Theodore Staubi was here from Lee Center on Monday calling upon business friends.

A representative from the secretary of state's office looking up delinquent auto licenses was here the fore part of the week.

F. W. Meyer is having from Oct. 5th to 11th Congoleum Days during which time specially reduced prices on these rugs can be had. These rugs are genuine Gold Seal Congoleum and will be sold at prices far below the regular cost.

Joseph Ruehna was a business visitor in Mendota on Tuesday.

C. H. Merschon was in Dixon on Tuesday submitting bids for the hauling of gravel for a new stretch of road in Bradford township.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Taylor returned home on Wednesday after spending a week at Ames, Iowa visiting with their uncle. Mr. E. A. Hughes, who has been acting in the capacity of gas-man during Clarence's absence returned to his home at Joliet the following day.

Frank Delhotal and son Raymond returned from South St. Paul the latter part of the week with four carloads of feeders, keeping three of the cars and selling one to John Dinges.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Elliott were callers in Compton on Tuesday.

Herb Pyke was down from the vicinity of Paw Paw on Monday and informs us he is quitting the farm this winter and is moving to Mendota where he will operate a milk route.

The dance given at the school hall on Tuesday was well attended and everyone had a fine time. There will be one in the opera house on the 16th with music by Belser's orchestra of Mendota.

Frank Halbmaier, Jr. and Miss Minnie Bauer stole the march on their many friends and were quietly married at Dixon last Friday. They were married by Father Foley at the parsonage and Anton Halbmaier and Miss Ariene Bauer acted as attendants. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left by auto for an extended honeymoon trip and upon their return will make their home upon the farm owned by the groom's father in Lee Center.

The bride is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bauer of Viola township and is the type that has been reared to make a first class helpmate for her husband. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Halbmaier and is a promising young man and a hustling farmer. Upon their return they will be tendered a good old fashioned chivalry by their many friends and acquaintances. We extend congratulations.

Mrs. Catherine Fassig entertained the members of the Fassig family in their annual reunion at her home on Sunday for dinner. The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. William Fassig, of Mendota, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ulch of Sublette, Mr. and Mrs. John Yost and Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Yost both of Mendota and Mrs. Catherine Wolf also of Mendota.

These represent the brothers and sisters on her husband's side. Besides the above the children were present as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Bauer, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Halbth, Mr. and Mrs. John Flor-schuetz and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Fassig.

Mr. and Mrs. Abel Henry were down from Dixon on Thursday looking after the interests of their farm in Viola township.

Mrs. Ray Jacobs and Mrs. Peter Dolan were shoppers in Mendota on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bernardin spent Sunday at Sterling where they visited with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Gehant drove out from Aurora over Sunday and visited with their many friends and former neighbors.

Henry Wendell was here from La Moille on Tuesday transacting business.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Graves were over from Amboy the middle of the week looking after the interests of their farm.

Paul Halbmaier shipped a carload of hogs to market on Monday.

Steps have been taken by the business men to mark out a new trail from the Lincoln straight south through West Brooklyn to Mendota. The road is just as straight as a string with the exception of two county-line jogs and much of it is already improved. The distance from the highway to here is 14 miles and on to Mendota would be another 10 miles. The consent of the state roads department has been asked and the name selected for the highway will be "Brooklyn Way." Signs and posters are being erected at both terminals and markers will be put up at each cross road.

Jack Wigum has purchased a Ford touring car from Doctor White.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Bernardin drove to the Frank Melhausen home near Ashton on Sunday and spent the day.

West Brooklyn and vicinity can purchase Congoleum rug at F. W. Meyer's store during Congoleum Week, Oct. 6 to 11th at reduced special prices which will prevail for only one week. (Paid).

Illinois Central System Seeks to Encourage Interest in Diversified Farming

The Illinois Central System rejoices to observe the better prices which farm products are bringing. When the farmer can buy, all business is stimulated. It is also gratifying to know that many farmers are insuring themselves against the danger of losses in the future by diversifying their crops. This program is one that has long been urged by the farm experts in the service of the Illinois Central System.

Farming has undergone great changes in recent years. Many of us who are yet comparatively young can remember when land and labor were cheap and the soil was highly productive. Farming was a simple proposition then. Farmers grew what they could grow with the least trouble. They gave little thought to retaining the fertility of their soil and to economies in operation and management. They sold their products at a small margin of profit, and they were able to provide for their families in keeping with the standard of living of those days.

The reason for their success is plain. Their cost of production was low, their cost of living was low, and their manner of living was simple. Now their cost of production is high, their cost of living is high, and their manner of living is much more complex than it was. The present standard is the right of every American citizen. But if the farmer is to live in accordance with the modern standard of living, he must farm in accordance with the modern standard of farming.

Intensive methods must be used to make farming profitable. Suitable crops should be planned for the soils. Intelligent study of the various grains, grasses, vegetables and fruits, to determine the types of soil for which they are best adapted, may turn losses into profits. The farmer who plants poor seed instead of tested seed and gets only half of a crop is letting half of his land lie idle, while his labor and expense are as great as if the land were producing to capacity. Labor expended in planting, cultivating and harvesting a field which produces only half of a crop is 50 per cent wasted energy.

One-crop farming is not successful farming. It means taking chances on the weather and the market and continually robbing the soil of its fertility. Diversified farming means livestock on the farm. It means dairying. It means poultry. It means a wise choice of crops. It means having something to sell throughout the year. It means growing one's own food.

In deciding upon the kind of livestock to raise, the farmer of course chooses the kind that he believes will be the most profitable. A good dairy cow cannot be beaten as a steady income producer. No farmer can afford to feed scrub dairy cows. He may not be able to buy purebred cows, but he can at least buy high grade cows, and he should mate them to purebred sires whose ancestors were high producers of milk and butterfat.

The man who farms in this way insures himself against losses. Under all conditions he is better off than the one-crop farmer, because he has some hogs and chickens, a few dairy cows and a garden, and he is growing a large part of the food required by his family, thus reducing his living expenses to the minimum without reducing his standard of living.

The Illinois Central System maintains a Development Bureau composed of trained and practical men whose duty it is to co-operate with farmers in the territory served by this railroad. The services of these men may be obtained free of charge upon request. They are prepared to visit any community on our lines where they can be of assistance to farmers. We are glad to have our farmer patrons use this organization freely.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

C. H. MARKHAM,
President, Illinois Central System.
